Faith for Today

Faith is like a muscle: It can be strengthened. It can be weak or it can be strong, depending on how much you use it. How does God build your faith? He uses a very predictable pattern. If you understand it, you can cooperate with him in developing greater faith. It's like when the father who was seeking help from Jesus for his son, said, "Have pity on us and help us, if you possibly can!" (Mark 9:22 TEV) Jesus replied, "What do you mean, 'If I can'? ... Anything is possible if a person believes" (Mark 9:23 NLT).

The first thing God does to build your faith is give you a dream. When God wants to work in your life, he always gives you a dream — about yourself, about what he wants you to do, about how he's going to use your life to impact the world.

There are many examples in the Bible of this:

- God gave Noah the dream of building an ark.
- God gave Abraham the dream of being the father of a great nation.
- God gave Joseph the dream of being a leader that would save his people.
- God gave Nehemiah the dream of building the wall around Jerusalem.

How do you know when a dream is from God or when it's just something you've thought up yourself? The Bible tells us that God "by his mighty power at work within us is able to do far more than we would ever dare to ask or even dream of — infinitely beyond our highest prayers, desires, thoughts, or hopes" (Ephesians 3:20 LB).

In other words, if a dream comes from God, it will be so big in your life that you can't do it on your own. If you could do it on your own, you wouldn't need faith. And if you don't have faith, you're not pleasing God, because the Bible says whatever is not of faith is sin (Romans 14:23). God starts to build your faith by giving you a dream. He may be speaking to you now, but you just don't recognize it for what it is. That dream you have, the idea or concept you've been thinking about doing that would be of real benefit to other people — where do you think that idea came from?

God will never tell you to do something that contradicts his truth. In other words, he won't give you a dream of leaving your family and kids and moving to Hollywood to be a movie star. If you have that dream, then you can know it is not from God. God starts with a dream as he works within your life to build faith.

How to use Health Care Reimbursement Account

The HRA becomes effective at the same time as your Health Insurance becomes effective.

- $300.00 for individual coverage
- $600.00 for family coverage.

Whose expenses can I pay for with the HRA? You can pay for your own health care (medical, dental, and vision) expenses and also the health care expenses for any eligible dependent.

How do I use the account? You can use the account to pay for health care expenses that aren't covered by your other health plans, like your copayments, over the counter drugs, contact lenses, etc. as your employer's plan provisions dictate.

How do I get reimbursed?

- Save your receipts or BCBS Explanation of Benefits.
- File a claim with your Health Care Reimbursement Account. You can access this through Dashboard, by going to "My Benefits" and then clicking on Wage Works. You then can fill out information online and then upload your receipts or BCBS explanation of benefits.
- Or download App @ wageworks.com/myezreceipts on smart phone

How much time do I have to submit all of my Explanation of Benefits and receipts? You have until April 30, 2019 to submit any expenses you incurred in 2018.

Any questions or issues you can contact Wage Works at 877-924-3967 or contact Benefits Office at 454-1761.

Predetermination helps you plan for your dental care

Unexpected bills aren't fun for anyone. It's much easier to budget for expenses you're expecting. That's why Delta Dental makes it easy for you to find out whether your dental treatment is covered and how much it will cost before you take a seat in your dentist's chair.

Here's how: When a proposed treatment plan will cost more than $200, ask your dentist to submit the plan to us for predetermination. Predetermination gives us a chance to review the proposed treatment in accordance with your dental coverage. We can then determine what portion of the treatment will be covered under the Delta Dental plan chosen by your employer and what portion will be your financial responsibility.

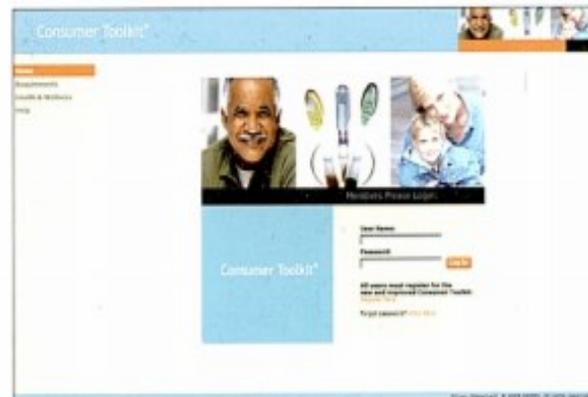

We'll send a predetermination notice to you and your dentist. We encourage you to review this notice together and discuss treatment options before deciding on treatment. Our payment can be applied toward the treatment that you and your dentist choose.

With predetermination, you'll know ahead of time how much of the bill you'll be responsible for. Predetermination gives you the opportunity to learn about your options—and it makes it easier for you to budget for your dental care.

Consumer Toolkit—a fast, free way to check your coverage

Need information about your Delta Dental coverage? Our online Consumer Toolkit® gives you easy access to a wealth of information 24/7.

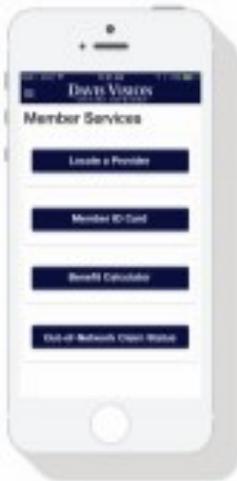

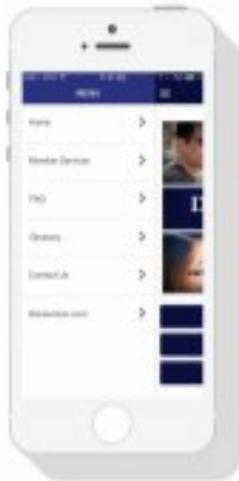

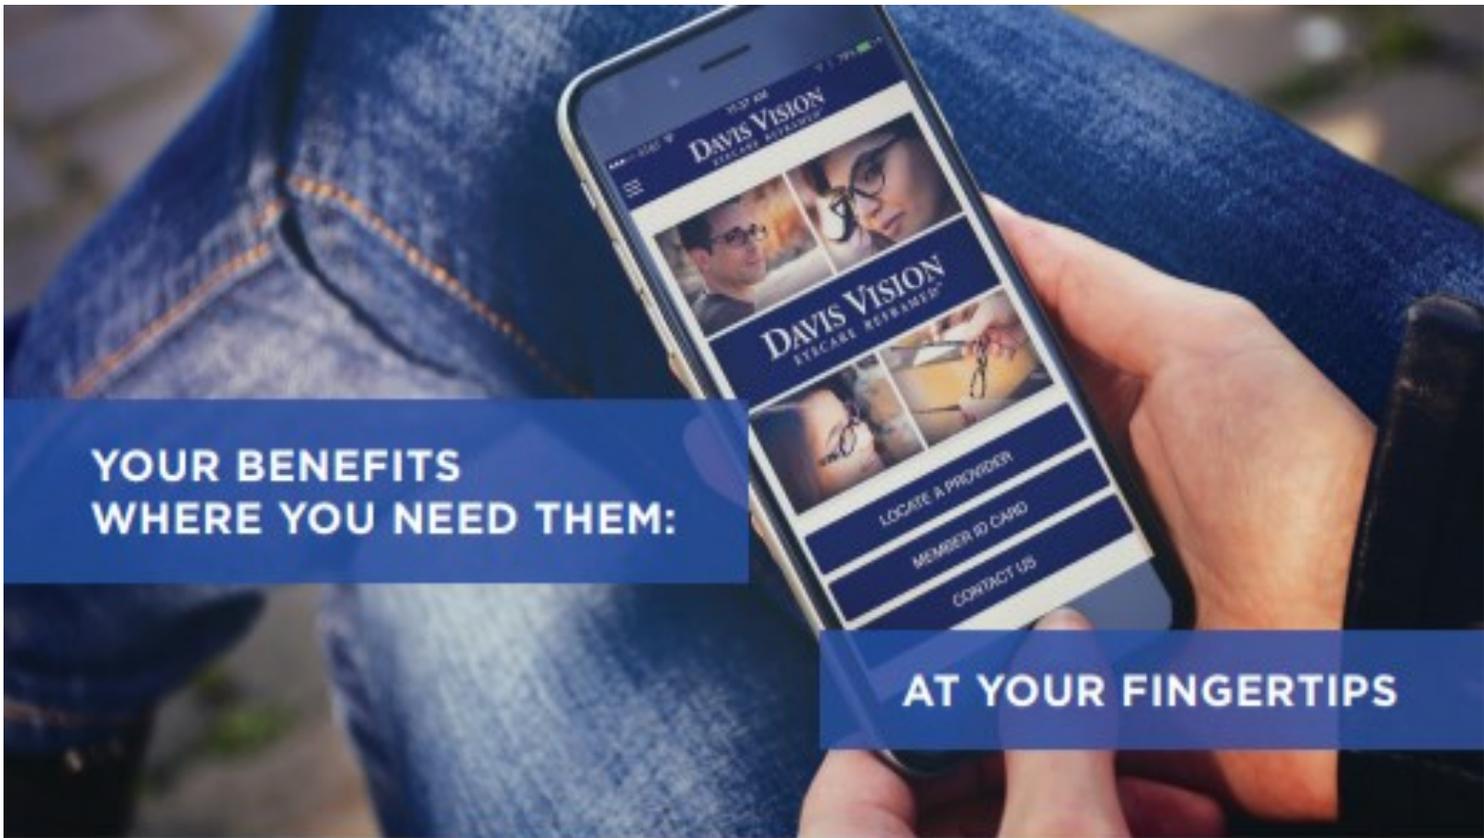

This secure service lets you:

- Verify your eligibility
- Review up-to-date benefits information (such as your coverage levels for specific services, how much of your yearly benefit has been used to date, and how much is still available)
- Check your claims and see what's been paid
- Search directories of participating dentists
- Print ID cards and claim forms
- Review oral health information

Delta Dental's Consumer Toolkit is just one of the many ways we're working to better serve you. Register and log on at:

Warning signs of teen drug abuse

While experimenting with drugs doesn't automatically lead to drug abuse, early use is a risk factor for developing more serious drug abuse and addiction. Risk of drug abuse also increases greatly during times of transition, such as changing schools, moving, or divorce. The challenge for parents is to distinguish between the normal, often volatile, ups and downs of the teen years and the red flags of substance abuse. These include:

- Having bloodshot eyes or dilated pupils; using eye drops to try to mask these signs
- Skipping class; declining grades; suddenly getting into trouble at school
- Missing money, valuables, or prescriptions
- Acting uncharacteristically isolated, withdrawn, angry, or depressed
- Dropping one group of friends for another; being secretive about the new peer group
- Loss of interest in old hobbies; lying about new interests and activities
- Demanding more privacy; locking doors; avoiding eye contact; sneaking around

Getting help for drug abuse and drug addiction

Finding help and support for drug addiction

Our EAP program has the resources to help adolescents with addictions . We have facilities that deal with the young men and women struggling with drugs and alcohol.

Recognizing that you have a problem is the first step on the road to recovery, one that takes tremendous courage and strength. Facing your addiction without minimizing the problem or making excuses can feel frightening and overwhelming, but recovery is within reach. If you're ready to make a change and willing to seek help, you can overcome your addiction and build a satisfying, drug-free life for yourself.

Support is essential to addiction recovery

Don't try to go it alone; it's all too easy to get discouraged and rationalize "just one more" hit or pill. Whether you choose to go to rehab, rely on self-help programs, get therapy, or take a self-directed treatment approach, support is essential. Recovering from drug addiction is much easier when you have people you can lean on for encouragement, comfort, and guidance.

Support can come from:

- family members
- close friends
- therapists or counselors
- other recovering addicts
- healthcare providers
- people from your faith community

When a loved one has a drug problem

If you suspect that a friend or family member has a drug problem, here are a few things you can do:

- Speak up. Talk to the person about your concerns, and offer your help and support, without being judgmental. The earlier addiction is treated, the better. Don't wait for your loved one to hit bottom! Be prepared for excuses and denial by listing specific examples of your loved one's behavior that has you worried.
- Take care of yourself. Don't get so caught up in someone else's drug problem that you neglect your own needs. Make sure you have people you can talk to and lean on for support. And stay safe. Don't put yourself in dangerous situations.
- Avoid self-blame. You can support a person with a substance abuse problem and encourage treatment, but you can't force an addict to change. You can't control your loved one's decisions. Let the person accept responsibility for his or her actions, an essential step along the way to recovery for drug addiction.

Don't

- Attempt to punish, threaten, bribe, or preach.
- Try to be a martyr. Avoid emotional appeals that may only increase feelings of guilt and the compulsion to use drugs.
- Cover up or make excuses for the drug abuser, or shield them from the negative consequences of their behavior.
- Take over their responsibilities, leaving them with no sense of importance or dignity.
- Hide or throw out drugs.
- Argue with the person when they are high.
- Take drugs with the drug abuser.
- Feel guilty or responsible for another's behavior.

Adapted from: National Clearinghouse for Alcohol & Drug Information

When your teen has a drug problem

Discovering your child uses drugs can generate fear, confusion, and anger in parents. It's important to remain calm when confronting your teen, and only do so when everyone is sober. Explain your concerns and make it clear that your concern comes from a place of love. It's important that your teen feels you are supportive.

Five steps parents can take:

- Lay down rules and consequences. Your teen should understand that using drugs comes with specific consequences. But don't make hollow threats or set rules that you cannot enforce. Make sure your spouse agrees with the rules and is prepared to enforce them.
- Monitor your teen's activity. Know where your teen goes and who he or she hangs out with. It's also important to routinely check potential hiding places for drugs—in backpacks, between books on a shelf, in DVD cases or make-up cases, for example. Explain to your teen that this lack of privacy is a consequence of him or her having been caught using drugs.

- Encourage other interests and social activities. Expose your teen to healthy hobbies and activities, such as team sports and afterschool clubs.
- Talk to your child about underlying issues. Drug use can be the result of other problems. Is your child having trouble fitting in? Has there been a recent major change, like a move or divorce, which is causing stress?
- Get help. Teenagers often rebel against their parents but if they hear the same information from a different authority figure, they may be more inclined to listen. Try a sports coach, family doctor, therapist, or drug counselor.

EAP services are available 24/7 to help you and your family in this situation or any other that may be going on with your family. Please contact Me @765-398-1888

Recreation Committee Update

Cresta Johnson, UAW 1166

SPOTLIGHT

Recreation Committee

Cresta Johnson has worked for FCA since September of 2002. She joined the recreation committee in May of 2018 and accepted the position of committee chair in September 2018. The Kids Christmas movie is her favorite activity that the committee is involved with. She enjoys seeing so many of our members and their families come together to make it a success each year. This was her first year to head up this event and she could not have had done it without the help of Jack Mckinney and Bill Lowe and his wife. 2019 the recreation committee was off to a great start with the comedy show thanks to Anthony Ervin. Cresta is always looking for the next event. Several have mentioned interest in a family picnic, a 5K, a park clean up day followed by a picnic. Halloween and Christmas parties for the adults. Each month the recreation committee does a drawing with several prizes. This helps offset the expense of future activities. Cresta is always open to new ideas and getting everyone involved. They have also adopted a kindergarten class at Western Elementary. They are excited to deliver a box full off supplies and treats. If you are interested in joining the recreation committee stop by and see Cresta at DCM 403 on day shift. She has great big plans for the future. She is focusing on growth and getting new faces involved. "We are a Union full off different personalities and tastes. I would like to see a variety of different people involved." Cresta you are doing a tremendous job and we look forward to what the future holds for the recreation committee.
